SpliceCom Growth Highlighted in Latest MZA Figures

29 June 2007 - Chorleywood, UK; SpliceCom, the IP convergence company whose award winning maximiser platform combines voice, video and web enabled IT applications at the desktop, has increased its share of the UK PBX market according to the latest data from leading market analysts MZA. MZA's report for system shipments made between January and March 2007 shows SpliceCom's maximiser business telephone system to have taken a 15% marketshare in the fastest growing sector - Pure IP PBXs*. In achieving this success SpliceCom have out sold the likes of Swyx and IP PBX pioneer 3Com.

In terms of extension shipments for this sector, SpliceCom were in second place behind Cisco, with maximiser being the third largest system when calculating the average number of extensions shipped with each IP-PBX platform.

"Our UK channel partners are winning more deals for larger maximiser systems, we have them to thank for our growth and these results," says Sean Harding, SpliceCom's CEO. "With the recent launch of our 5 Series platforms, which allow maximiser to be cost-effectively deployed all the way from 4 to 10,000 extensions, we expect this trend to continue."

* Pure IP PBXs support only IP extensions and do not support legacy digital proprietary extensions. Pure IP PBXs can also typically support analogue extensions via an adapter unit.

About SpliceCom

SpliceCom is a privately funded company, whose management team were behind the two most successful UK voice and data convergence companies of the 1990's - SDX Business Systems and Network Alchemy. SpliceCom's maximiser product family combines voice, video and web enabled IT applications within a single system, providing tangible business benefits for all types of companies, irrespective of their size. Having commenced shipments in early 2003, maximiser was voted the "Most Innovative Product" at one of the UK's premier communications trade events, Comms Channel Expo 2004, whilst SpliceCom's PCS 50 for Mac OS X IP Softphone/Phone Partner application picked up the award in 2005.
